

FAMILY GATHERING IN BANQUET ROOM

THE WATER'S FINE AND THE AIR IS BALMY UNDER THE DOME

ENTERTAINMENT IN TROPICAL ATMOSPHERE

Among the coal slags of Honshu, the main island of Japan, an "all-weather" Hawaiian Center opened to the fun-seeking public. Faced with a slump in Japan's national coal industry, plus the fact it was costing the Japan Coal Mine Co. over $4,000,000 annually to pump out hot mineral water from the mines before it could reach the coal, over 40,000 acres were set aside for developing the Center. It offered local an opportunity to recapture some of the tourist business being lost to Hawaii, some 3,600 miles away.

A giant glass and plastic dome, creating, in essence, a horticultural hothouse, covers an area of almost 1,500 acres adjacent to some abandoned mines. Hangar-like in structure, it houses a large swimming pool, tile floored "beach", and other attractions. Nearby, are a modern hotel, a "rest house," modified hotel, and "onsen"—or hot mineral springs, sauna-type baths utilizing the 143° F. water pumped from the mines.

Under the dome, the balmy aloha temperature is kept at a constant 82° F. Over 600 varieties of palm trees and 1,000 tropical plants and flowers are planted in the "garden".

Daughters of the coal miners provide entertainment in the form of Hawaiian and Tahitian native dances. The young ladies, average age 17, had never seen a hula before they were taught the dance last year. A jazz group of former miners offers the musical accompaniment, along with an all-girl brass band. The entire Hawaiian Center staff was selected and trained from among 10,000 employees of the coal mining company.

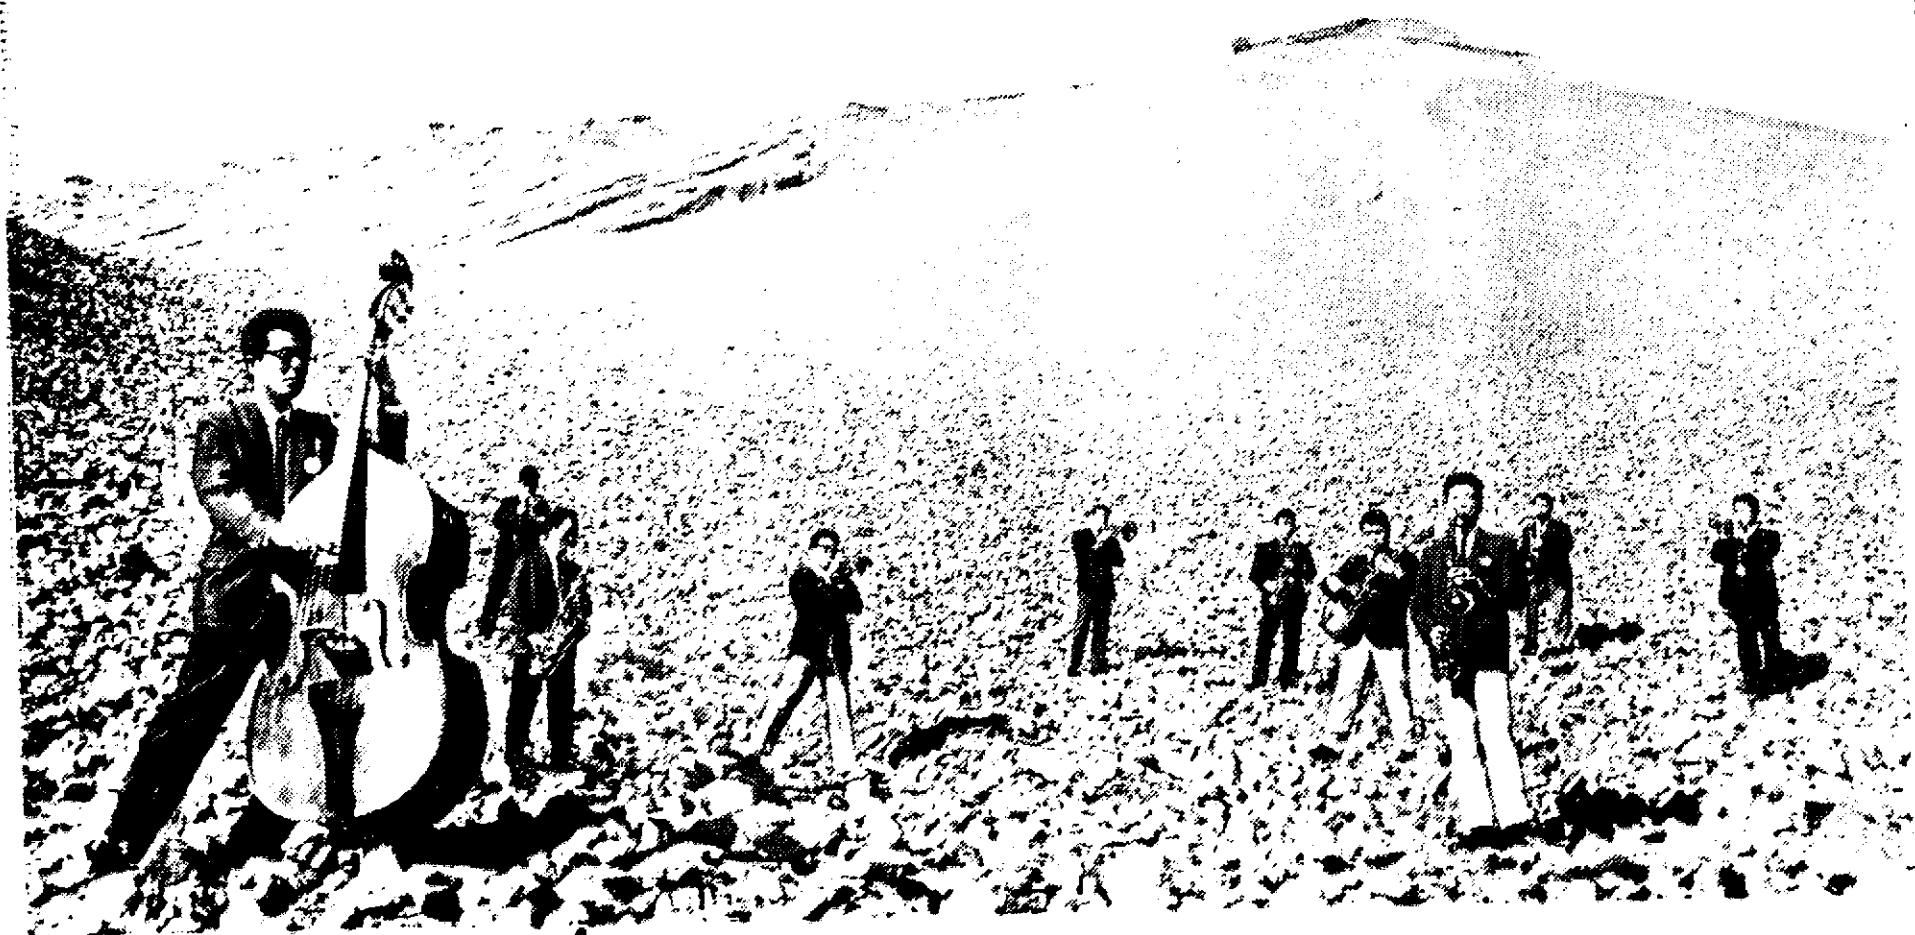

There are restaurants, cafeterias and bars with a food selection covering the gamut from Oriental and Polynesian to Western. Plans are currently underway to construct a golf course and ski slope near the mines.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Being a writer with formula writing and laugered by insensitive directors, the film industry sometimes suffers fits of pair. At such times he can refresh his spirit by pondering the example of Ernest Lehman, who has made it. He composed the script for the financially most successful film of all time, "The Sound of Music." In a dazzling change pace after that warm-hearted musical, he wrote the film of the corrosive drama, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and produced the film "The Graduate."

Just as "The Sound of Music" was the 1965 Academy Award winner, "The Graduate" was the 1967 winner. Lehman is the prime example of the new breed of screen writer. He is not a slick salesman like Sammy Glick, Budd Schulberg's hero of "What Makes a Hero Run?" nor does he have the flamboyance of a Ben Hecht. Rather he has ascended to top rank as a film creator by his own quiet competence.

He now is writing and producing another prize-winning film, "Hello, Dolly." He operates from a tastefully decorated room suite at 20th Century-Fox, and he has his own room, a status symbol in Hollywood scheme of things. Once a copy editor of the Wall Street Journal, Lehman became a freelance writer of fiction and screenplays in his native New York. His novelettes attracted Paramount interest, and Paramount offered him a contract of $600 a week.

His first assignment was a script for MGM for "Executive Decision." Although Paramount rejected his option, he returned to the "Sabinas" with Billy Wilder. "The King and I" and "The Longest Day" followed. Then he met his crisis in the film version of his novel "The Graduate." He had expected to direct the picture, but United Artists decided it was too risky. Instead, he wrote the script, and my friend advised me to get off the picture and take a rest," he said.

He went to Tahiti, feeling romantically bitter about being sent away from my home, my job, my job. I blamed the picture for not accepting me unless I was successful. But as I walked the beaches, I realized the world wasn't at fault."

He returned after three weeks to write his first original screen play, "North by Northwest." Lehman, 49, is compactly built with the tanned, well-tailored appearance that bespeaks Hollywood success. Yet he retains the same wife with whom he arrived here — they have two sons — and they have lived in the same Brentwood house for a dozen years.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

DON'T HIDE THE REAL YOU

Dear Helen: I have a problem. My friends say it's a gift. I have a sense of humor like most teens, but.....! When they gave me mine, a half dozen other kids were hiding.

When it's just with my three girlfriends, it's okay to joke around, but when these boys we know talk to us, big problem!! The girls say they like me this way, but this one boy (who is more than "just a boy") likes me, and I have heard he likes quiet girls.

I try to be quiet around him, and then my friends don't like it.

Which should I be? CONFUSED COMEDIAN

Dear Con-Com.: Yourself! But don't be a scene stealer. Your b. f. may not mind the noise (after all, you attracted him with it), but he won't stay with a girl who hogs all the laughs.—H.

Dear Helen: In answer to "UGH's" question: How do other teens face family reunions?—here's my answer.

When the folks ask about my boy friends I'm glad they do. At least they think I'm cute enough to have one.

When they talk about my figure, I'm glad too. At least they know I'm growing and shaping up.

Or about my hair: I just say I like it this way and it's easy to keep neat.

Honest, they're only trying to make conversation and showing polite interest. Why ding them for it?—BETTY

Dear Helen: I beat my relatives to the draw. Ask them all sorts of questions first, tire them out, and leave them thinking, "My, what an interested child." It's kind of fun, impressing your relatives. Try it.—DIANA

Dear Helen: Family reunions used to kill me. Mine are so phony.

I got smart. First I warned my parents not to be shocked. Then Aunt Sallie asked about "how many boyfriends?" I calmly replied, "I don't think that is any of your business." "My how you've grown!" My PRESIDENT JOHNSON embraces a little girl named Cathy who was on hand, along with a lot of other people, when Mr. Johnson arrived at the airport in Canberra, Australia, Oct. 20. Although he received a warm welcome from most of the crowd, some anti-American demonstrators were on hand to picket Mr. Johnson as he completed the second leg of his 25,000-mile journey to Asia.

AWARD-WINNING RUG DESIGN reflects color and pattern preferences of consumers. Contemporary interpretation of a Georgian documentary is in blue and olive wool.

NEW YORK (NEA) — A woman who can't make up her mind when she shops is reacting normally. Confused consumers aren't unusual.

Austin O'Grady points out that women generally can find what they are looking for in rugs and carpets but the variety of styles and color coupled with claims and counter-claims of fiber performance give many shoppers a buying headache.

Yet, despite these agonies of decision, customers today want more color and design on the floor, he says. Much of this desire he credits to "a definite youth effect on styling."

O'Grady draws upon experience in the design and sales fields since 1936 to back up his opinion that carpet no longer is merely "basic background." There is a willingness and desire for newness and more confidence by the consumer when making a floor covering choice.

For most women, he feels, the home is still the only creative outlet. "I style rugs and carpets for women. I've yet to hear an average husband insist the home be decorated in early Greek."

With the multitude of choices in rugs and carpets, O'Grady suggests a consumer look for a store with a good reputation for quality merchandise and helpful salespersons. "This, he admits, is not always easy. Perhaps this is why he is willing to discuss "the national picture."

Studies show younger consumers like more texture and this has brought textured carpeting heavily into the market, according to O'Grady.

The trend is for fabrics to be thick, luxurious in appearance but also practical. Plush, too, is in demand but "it is not always practical."

Sculptured carpets fit into the texture scheme of things and no matter the fabric and fiber. Leading colors are running to deep blue, gold, burnt amber and multicolors, often of the same family, that give a very subtle feeling of a plain color with highlights.

Many colors growing in popularity, such as bright greens and purple, owe their commercial lives to ready-to-wear and mod fashions.

With innovations in rug and carpet designs, O'Grady smiles when he points out that long life of a carpet is not the main buying consideration for women it once was.

"They always ask about how long it will last but never admit to their husbands that they plan to buy new carpet in two to five years to change the decor."

Reds Say Severed Fingers Reattached

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese surgeons have developed a technique to reattach completely severed fingers, the New China News Agency said today. It attributed the achievement to "the invincible thought of Mao Tse-tung."

ESCALATORS CORRUPT YOUTH IN JAKARTA: A white back, YOUTH BEAT reported on hooky playing's rugged legal status in De Gaulle France—parents fined and jailed when offspring skipped school. Now this extracurricular sport strikes a novel oriental note—in Indonesia. This Asian land's only modern department store contains an irresistible youth lure... the newly experienced wonder of escalators snaking up and down its 14 floors. Result: Indonesian youth, previously known for shouting "Down with Sukarno," now forsake lessons to ride up their country's first moving staircases.

WILL SWEATERS SHRINK? U. S. girls like to wear sweaters hip-long and this year's tall sweaters stretch near to thighs. But, if sweater fads skip across the Atlantic from style-setting France, next year will see a change. French girls in general favor trim sweaters, and now the newest trend in this direction comes this fall from St. Tropez—the glittering Riviera resort famous for initiating scandals and fashions. It's the mini sweater. Young jet-set girls there have begun to steam their already short sweaters with boiling water... and then parade the town, showing these skimpy riding at navel length. Supermini sweaters, matching—naturellement—supermini skirts.

NEW FASHIONS SIZZLE... in chopped meat! Your favorite hamburger sandwiches, first introduced at the St. Louis Exposition of 1904 (which also popularized ice cream cones), seem to be moving toward new, exotic developments that represent America's broad national culture. Since you eat more hamburgers than anyone else in the world, you may want to be up-to-date on such maverick breeds of the modern burger as: the California Mummyburger—sticky with peanut butter, crisp bacon, guava jelly, spinach and lettuce leaves; the Mexicana—adds real hot chili, plus tomatoes and lettuce and chopped tortillas; the Bostonburger—Boston baked beans, Irish bacon, English mustard and onion; the China-burger—spiced up with sparerib sauce, chopped water chestnuts, sliced scallions and radishes; the Borschburger—redolent with pickled beets, sliced hardboiled egg, mayonnaise and mustard. And the finale of finales, the Oliveburger Spectacular—bursting with chopped olives, eggs, onion, bread crumbs, cider, cheese, and any other wild ingredients you can think of.

TO SMOKE OR NOT TO SMOKE? Many guys and gals will be thinking about this question about now. The American Heart Assn. has put together an interesting "cigarette quiz" which should help you make the decision. The popular singing group, The McCoys (billed as "America's Teen-age Heart Ambassadors"), has taken up the no-smoke cause and if you want a free copy of the cigarette quiz booklet, write them at 200 W. 57th St., New York, N. Y.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television — or a few imaginative men within it — is developing an interesting special form, the one-man show in which camera work and production values are almost as important as the talent of the star.

Over the past couple of seasons we have had a pair of Barbara Streisand hours and another with Frank Sinatra. Wednesday night on ABC, there was Tony Bennett.

From opening moment to closing titles, it was music and lyrics all the way, and very good music indeed.

Bennett, who has a fine voice, an intense way with lyrics and a physical style all his own, was backed up by a huge orchestra.

The setting for most of the show was a curious set that looked like a traffic interchange on empty freeways with a studio audience scattered around in little circular islands.

Covering the set kept Bennett pretty busy — sometimes a little too active — but he packed a lot of songs into the period, ranging in mood from comedy to ballad.

Most interesting, visually, was a portion consisting of a stroll by Bennett around some familiar San Francisco landmarks.

Joe Cates, a TV producer of broad experience, has been rushed to CBS' "Garry Moore Show" and is functioning like a specialist at the bedside of a Moore's variety show may not be dying, but it is awfully sick, suffering from chronic competition of "Bonanza" complicated by internal troubles and an acute case of low ratings.

Cates, replacing Perry Cross, has now had what he called "five 48-hour days" on the show and has prescribed a stimulant: An hour version of the 1947 musical, "High Button Shoes."

"It is part of the plan," he said. "We'll put on a special of some kind every three weeks. We don't expect miracles, but we do know that specials increase ratings — persuade viewers to resample a series. Then, if they find they like it, perhaps they'll come back the next week."

His diagnosis of the internal troubles, after studying four productions, is that it lacks focus.

The break into specials will start on Nov. 20.

New Minister Changed Mind

KINSHASA, Congo (AP) — Brig. Gen. Leonard Mulamba did a sharp about face late Wednesday night and accepted his new appointment as defense minister, Radio Kinshasa reported today.

Mulamba was fired as premier and appointed defense minister by President Joseph D. Mobutu. Mobutu assumed the duties of premier and decreed a "presidential regime."

Mulamba sent Mobutu a letter declining the new appointment but later sent a new letter accepting the job.

Church Attendance

BUILDS CHARACTER

If A Man
Prays

Can
He Live
Wrong?

... The Golden Rule. And what a world this would be if men would only live it! There would be no more necessity for preaching and the jails could rot down. Observance of the "Golden Rule" would bring in the Age of Gold. Hillel, the Jewish lawyer, called it "the whole law." Leo Tolstoy, "discovered those clear simple truths," gave up a most successful profession and spent the rest of his life crusading for the welfare and understanding of his fellows. "Do Unto Others," was made more Golden by the American Indian when in his memorable words, he counsels us to travel "A moon in his moccasins," before we criticize another. The Golden Rule carries the secret of a good society... A Democratic society. But don't forget the man who uttered the rule in the Gospels. That makes it different. His message includes the parable of the Good Samaritan and of the Last Judgment... feed the hungry, clothe the naked and remember the man in jail. It all boils down to a most significant question... "Will you keep it in good conscience?" In your home, your business, your social affairs, will you "DO UNTO OTHERS AS YOU WOULD BE DONE BY?"

More on the Golden Rule next week.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

SPONSORS BELOW SHARE THE INVITATION AND COST OF THIS PAGE. THEY URGE YOU AND YOUR FAMILY TO ATTEND CHURCH.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH
Dentists' Degrees Differ But Their Services Don't
By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many people ask why many dentists have D.D.S. degrees and some D.M.D.s. Do they represent special qualifications? Is a doctor of dental surgery specially trained to do dental surgery? Is a doctor of dental medicine specially trained to treat diseases of the mouth?

The answer to these questions is "no." These two degrees are conferred by our dental schools on graduates who have completed similar courses of study, of scientific achievement and clinical experience.

Then why two degrees? That's more difficult to answer. Some dental schools have adopted D.M.D. because they feel it more nearly represents their conception of the modern dentist and his expanded role in medicine.

They say that dentists now play a more significant part in preventing, discovering and treating disease. They believe this expanded responsibility as a member of the health team that's concerned with health of our whole body and not only teeth, is best represented by the D.M.D. degree.

Many general diseases are manifest in the mouth, and often the first indicators of disease in other parts of the body are found in the mouth.

Even though dental school deans agree and promote this new role of dentistry, agreement in the immediate future as to which degree would best represent this new era in dentistry does not seem imminent.

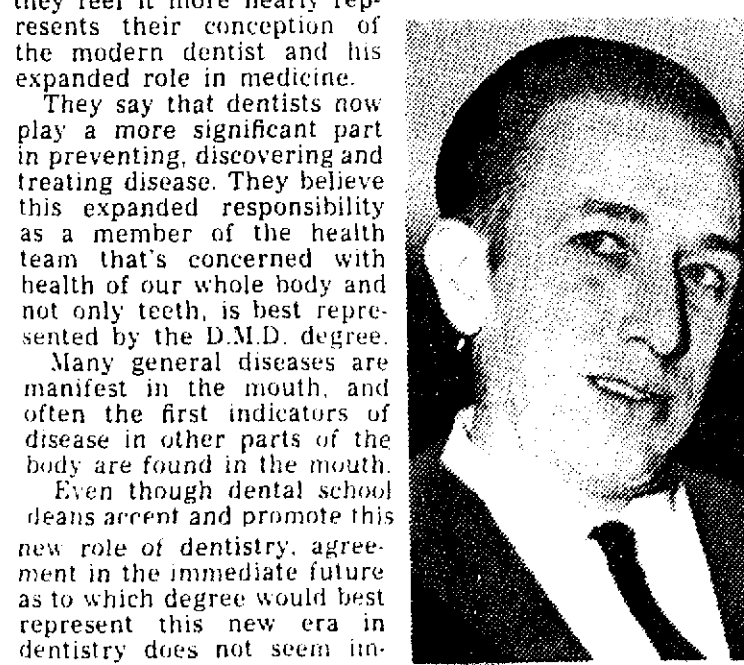

Everyone agrees that dentistry has passed the "drill-em-and-fill-em" stage. Yet many educators maintain that since 90 per cent of dentists' chairside time is still spent in performing operative procedure, doctor of dental surgery is the more relevant degree.

At present D.D.S.s predominate of 47 dental schools in the United States. 41 confer D.D.S. degrees on their graduates and six D.M.D.s. Of those dentists practicing, about 95 per cent have D.D.S. degrees. Of over 3,000 dental graduates last year, less than 300 received D.M.D.s.

However, if you have a toothache, mouth lesion, need false teeth or root canal therapy or extractions, dentists with either degree are equally qualified to treat you. This depends, of course, on their particular training and ability in the dental discipline involved.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Bobcats Clobber Camden, 20 to 7

Bobcat Line Gives Sterling Performance

By Larry Don Wright
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Hope Bobcats combined an aggressive offensive attack and a brilliant defensive effort for what was by far their most impressive performance of the season, a 20-7 shellacking of the Camden Panthers in Hammons Stadium last night.

The Bobcat offense scored two touchdowns and two field goals in route to Hope's first win in five outings. In the meantime, the Bobcat defense, better known as the "Butcher Squad" held the stalwart Camden offensive machine to only six first downs, all in the last half, and kept the Panthers from driving all night long.

The two Bobcat field goals by end Luther Shaw of 20 and 19 yards put the Hope kicker in the District 4A lead in this department. The only other field goal which has been booted this year in the district was by Boyette of cats two weeks ago.

The Cats scored early on their initial possession by driving 56 yards to paydirt and a 7-0 lead. But Camden evened things up just following the kickoff by way of a 62 yard TD pass. Hope got on the board again near the start of the second quarter by the first of Shaw's kicksets up by a 59 yard march by the Cats.

The home team squeezed in one more tally in the first half on a short drive to the points with just 24 seconds remaining. Shaw rounded out the night's scoring with another field goal to make the final score 20-7, already chalked up midway through the third period.

The Panthers received the opening kickoff but were forced to punt on a fourth down situation at their own 31-yard line. The Bobcats took over the 44.

Substantial gains by all of the Bobcat's young backfield attributed to their 56-yard drive to score. It was junior quarterback Buzz Andrews carrying it in for the points from a yard away to cap the drive. Shaw kicked the first of two extra points to give the Cats a temporary lead of 7-0, with 6:40 still remaining in the first quarter.

The Panthers took the kickoff and began from scrimmage at their own 35. Then on a third & seven situation quarterback Mike Reynolds lofted a pass over the middle to end Dennis Morris who caught in on the run at the 34 behind the Cat's secondary. Reynolds ran for the PAT to even things up at 7-7 with still 5:19 left in the first stanza of play.

Following the ensuing kickoff, the Cats began a move from the Hope 31. Long gainers by senior Freddie Easterling kept the Bobcats going on their trek into enemy territory. The Cats did meet a crucial fourth and two situation during the drive at the Panther 27 yard line. Here a quickie jump pass from Andrews to end Stan Parris for three yards and a first down kept the threat alive.

However the huge Camden forward wall, which averages around 195 pounds per man, stiffened to present the Cats with a 4th and goal at the Camdentien. Shaw then came in to boot his first field goal of the season, a 20-yarder which barely cleared the crossbar but put the Bobcats out front for good, 10 to 7.

A punt exchange later the Panthers found themselves with a first down at mid-field, having recovered a Hope fumble. Then 2 plays later Reynolds fired a 10-yard pass to Scotty Graham who got the ball at the Bobcat 36 and was hit immediately. On his way down, Graham pitched out to a nearby teammate, halfback Jim Patton. But Patton couldn't hang on to it and on what looked like another pitch out, Bobcat safety Parris got the ball on the run going the other direction. Parris romped down the right sidelines for 50 yards before being finally hauled down by a pair of Panthers at the Camden 16 yardline. Five plays later Easterling barreled over from the 6-yard line and just 24 seconds showed on the clock as Shaw kicked the PAT to give the Cats a 17-7 lead.

To open the second half of play Bobcat halfback James Bradley returned the kickoff 34 yards to the Hope 43 from where the Cats began their final scoring drive. The march was highlighted by sizeable gains by sophomore backs Mickey Allen and Jerry Don McWilliams, in addition to vital yards by Easterling and Andrews. In 12 plays, the Cats moved it in to the 9 where Shaw kicked for his final points, a 19 yard field goal. The score of 20-7 midway through the third period held for the remainder of play.

The Panthers did mount one serious offensive following the kickoff. They found themselves forced to punt at their own 28. But the Cats were penalized 15 yards on the play for roughing the kicker and the Panthers gained their first first down of the night.

The Cats young offense which has shined only on a few occasions this season, turned in its finest performance by moving almost at will through the giant Panther defense.

In addition the win meant even more to the Bobcats who celebrated their Homecoming last night. It also marked the Bobcats final home game.

The individual rushing statistics testified to the Cats well balanced offensive attack as all five backs, who played, rushed in double digits. Easterling led the pack with 118 yards in 21 carries; McWilliams rushed 16 times for 54 yards; Allen got 42 yards on 9 carries; Andrews 11 for 28. Jerry Don Still ran 4 times for 17 yards.

Hope gained 16 first downs to Camden's 8; netted 259 yards rushing to the Panther's 62; had a punting average of 40 yards in two tries.

Final Score;
Hope 20, Camden 7.

Green Bay, Dallas Likely to Romp

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — Green Bay, Dallas and Cleveland figure to romp this week but it will be a tight fit in the other National Football League games. San Diego is regarded as the only sure thing in the American Football League.

Here's how the coming games look to this prognosticator (all games are Sunday unless otherwise noted):

NFL

Green Bay 24, Detroit 14 — The Packers always bring out the best in the Lions, especially that pass rush and Karl Sweetan showed surprising poise last week. But Green Bay has too much punch and should black out Detroit's offense.

Baltimore 24, Los Angeles 16 — Colts have won last five from Rams and are showing good balance with Tom Matte, Tony Lorick and John Unitas.

Dallas 35, Pittsburgh 10 — Cowboys come home after loss and tie in last two outings, looking for somebody to take it out on.

Cleveland 31, Atlanta 17 — A rabbit shoot for the Browns whose only trouble will be getting up for Falcons after big win over Dallas.

Minnesota 24, San Francisco 21 — A toughie. They played 20-20 tie in opener but 49ers have won three in a row after shaky start.

Washington 20, Philadelphia 17 — After watching Redskins lose to Giants and then seeing Eagles ramble over same club it's hard to pick Washington but they must have done something right against St. Louis.

Chicago 14, St. Louis 13 (Monday night) — This one is on national (CBS) TV. Bears have beaten their former Chicago buddies five straight in regular season and 22-20 in exhibition. New York has the bye.

AFL

Buffalo 24, New York 21 — A must game for both clubs. Bills have won six of last seven from Jets. Anything can happen. Flip a coin. Could be a tie or a rout.

San Diego 27, Denver 14 — Chargers coming home at last after horrible road trip that ended with defeat in Boston.

Kansas City 28, Houston 20 — Chiefs blow hot or cold and this is the time for hot streak, opening four-game home stand.

Boston 21, Oakland 20 — Both teams surging. Pats have won two and tied one of last three. Miami has the bye.

Bobkittens Unable to Stir Offense

By RALPH ROUNTON

The Hope Bobkittens, not able to get their offense unbound, suffered their worst defeat of the season at the hands of the Fairview Cardinals, 19-0, last night at Hammons Stadium.

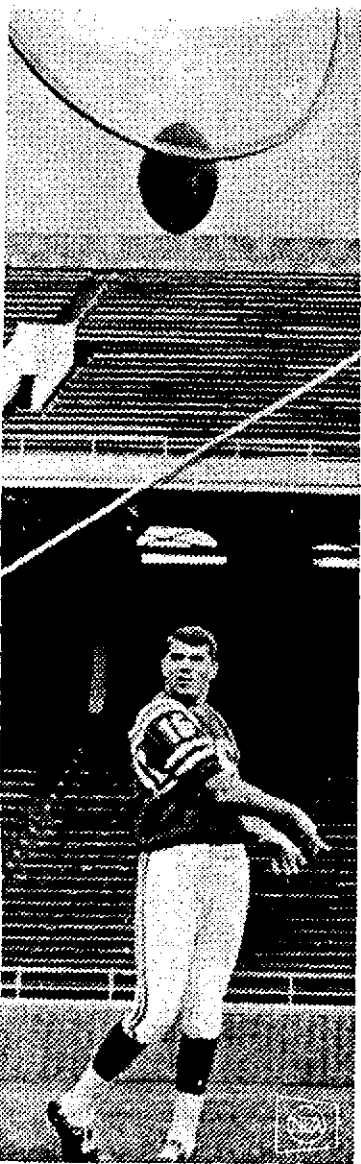

Late in the first period the Kittens had the ball on the Fairview 40, but on the first play a Massanelli pass went astray, and Johnson of Fairview intercepted and outran the others 77 yards into the end zone. PAT was missed and Hope trailed 6-0.

The rest of the half was played mainly between the 30 yard lines with neither team mounting up much of an offensive threat.

Soon after the opening of the second half, though, things began to open up. After an exchange of possessions Fairview caught the Hope secondary napping on a flat pass to Johnson, who then shot into high gear and streaked 57 yards for his second TD. PAT was blocked, and Fairview led 12-0.

Again, late in the third quarter, the Cardinals took the ball on their 20. After a line play Harris took a pitchout and sped 77 yards to paydirt. PAT was good to make it 19-0, Fairview. The rest of the game was spent mainly with Hope trying to score but failing because of crucial penalties.

David Still, Jimmy Alford, and Terry Vines, who was injured late in the game turned in excellent defensive games. Leading rushers for the Kittens were Alford with 21 carries for 105 yards and Spraggins with 14-63. Harris led for Fairview with 9 carries for 105 yards.

ON TARGET is Philadelphia Eagle's quarterback Norm Snead who practices his passing by throwing the ball through a revolving iron hoop.

Used 87c in His Campaign

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — When Washington State Rep. Helmut Juelling turned in his campaign expenses for the September primary he listed a total of 87 cents.

Juelling of Tacoma said he spent that for a can of paint to change the number of his left-over 1964 campaign signs from District 29 to 28. The number was changed by a legislative redistricting law.

This week the Republican State Central Committee made its financial allotments to legislative candidates for the general election. The committee sent Juelling a check for $1, along with the instructions: "Anything you don't spend, please return."

Between you'n'me

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

NEW YORK — (N E A) — Frank Tripucka manages to land on Friday afternoon wherever Notre Dame is scheduled to play a football game the next day.

Frank was an All-American quarterback under the golden dome in the haloed era of Frank Leahy, but his interest in the Irish is more mundane than reliving old glories. Frank gets paid for experting the independent network which helps feed seven little Tripuckas. He tries to be objective.

"Hey," he said, watching sophomore quarterback Terry Hanratty warm up before the North Carolina game a few weeks ago, "he's got a sore arm. It's like he's throwing a 50-pound ball."

"Naw," said coach Ara Parseghian, because he didn't want anybody to know that

Terry had taken a flu shot which had affected his arm.

"It's sore," persisted Frank, with an I-told-you-so look as Hanratty kept his arm under wraps for the first quarter. Then the teams changed fields, and Terry had the wind behind his back. He unfurled a 60-yard pass to end Jim Seymour for a touchdown.

"Sore arm!" sputtered Hanratty as he trotted over to the sidelines. "Ha!"

"This Notre Dame team," said Tripucka as the victories mounted, "is as good as any I've ever seen. It has the overall ability to do anything. The kids look like they're having a tough time for a quarter—then, bingo, they score on a big play."

Frank sees only two weaknesses in their armament—the fact that fullback Larry Conjar hasn't the speed to break all the way on traps through the line, and poor punting.

There's always fascinating conjecture about the inevitable meeting of the Irish and the Spartans of Michigan State for a national championship showdown Nov. 19. Neither team appears to face serious danger of an upset before that date.

Tripucka has also seen the Spartans in action and doesn't hesitate to compare them.

"Both," he said, "have size, speed and strength. I think the only way you're going to beat either team is to throw over them, because you're not going to go through them."

"Notre Dame, with its 4-4 defense, is murder on the roll-out option that all college teams throw at them. Those four linemen just blow in on every play, and the four line-backers clean up behind them, making all the tackles. Alan Page at end is having a fantastic year."

"Michigan State also uses a four-man front, with that big Bubba Smith, who reminds me of Leon Hart in 1949 when he won the Heisman award. Notre Dame and Michigan State were undefeated when they met that year, and Hart just came in and batted a pile around. Both teams got terrific pass rush, but a State defense varies with a monster man, George W. ster, going all over the field.

"The Notre Dame offense backfield isn't as fast as Michigan State's, even at quarterback where Hanratty got run with Jimmy Raye. Cliff Jones is faster than Nick Ivy. Same with Bob Apisa and Conjar. But when you look about the other things, passing and receiving, it's all out. Eddy's a hell of a pass catcher."

"I can't see either team winning much because these both too big up front."

So what does it all mean in terms of picking a winner?

"The whole outcome," answers Tripucka glibly, "all depend on the weather. Q14 had day 'their' running is better than ours."

The old grad didn't have to specify "their" meant Michigan State. He was already consulting his Farmers Almanac.

OFFICIAL FOOTBALL

By Coach Dave Nelson

Jim Breland, the center of Georgia Tech, snaps the ball back to Kim King, the holder of the ball for an attempted field goal against Georgia. The ball hits the ground halfway to the holder and rolls into his hands. King places the ball on the tee and Len Snow kicks the field goal.

The official should:

1. Declare the ball dead at the spot where the ball was held for the kick.
2. Allow the field goal.
3. Penalize Georgia Tech for kicking a fumbled ball.

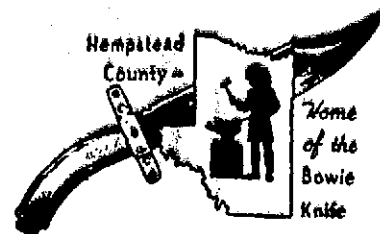

Lenny Snow

ANSWER: No. 2. Allow the field goal.

The ball remains alive if any part of a player's body is touching the ground when the ball will ostensibly be held for a place kick. Rule: 4-1-3-b.

The President in Viet Nam

Politicians Fear Food Price Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The consumer revolts against high food prices carry significant political implications. And no one understands this better than the politicians themselves.

The recently concluded 89th Congress gave strong support to proconsumer legislation such as auto safety and "truth-in-packaging," particularly when members had to go on the record. The developments of the past two weeks seem certain to spur more proconsumer activity in the next session.

Since a group of Denver housewives decided two weeks ago to boycott area supermarkets and demand an end to such things as raising stamps and contests which they blame for higher prices, the movement has spread to other cities in almost all parts of the country.

The food stores say their profits actually are going down and that contests are a necessary part of free enterprise to enable them to compete effectively.

The Federal Trade Commission, in a study released Tuesday, said farmers, processors and retailers all are getting a share of higher food prices. And it noted that growing consumer resistance might induce retailers to "intensely price competition and curtail the promotional competition which has substantially raised retail distribution costs over the past decade."

Already a few politicians are hastening to identify themselves with the consumer revolts, although in some cases it may be a matter of political survival for incumbents under fire because of rising prices.

In Denver, for example, Rep. Roy H. McVicker, a freshman Democrat in a close re-election scrap, was one of the first to urge the government to study the situation that prompted the housewives to revolt.

Old Leg Iron Put to Use

STOCKBRIDGE, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Robert Camp of Stockbridge, Mich., borrowed a leg iron with ball and chain from an Ingham County sheriff's officer who had kept it as a memento of the old days.

Mrs. Camp took the device home, planning to use it as part of a costume at the annual Stockbridge Halloween party.

Her daughter, Faye, 16, a high school sophomore, tried on the 25-pound leg iron.

She was the first to discover that the key to the gadget had been forgotten. She was trapped for two hours until a deputy was available to drive about 20 miles with the key.

Soviet Leaders to Visit France

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's top leaders are going to France for official visits in the next few months, the government announced.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will be first, the announcement said, in the first half of December. Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nikolai V. Podgorny will follow sometime in 1967. The three were invited by President Charles de Gaulle during his visit here last June.

Russians Now Walk on Water

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow radio reported today that Russians have invented boots for walking on water and developed a completely effective vaccine against measles.

The boots, credited to a Soviet engineer, resemble "miniature, self-closing umbrellas" that "open up when you step on a liquid surface and close when the foot is lifted," the broadcast said.

Says Children Passing Out Vile Material

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The chairman of the Democrats for Rockefeller in Pulaski County charged Thursday that material he said was prepared on behalf of Jim Johnson was being circulated in at least one south Arkansas town.

"School children are being used... to circulate a vile piece of campaign material," charged Frank Lambright Thursday.

Johnson, the Democratic nominee for governor, meets Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in the Nov. 3 general election.

Lambright quoted a county chairman as saying his son saw a booklet handed out at a junior high school Thursday by another child who had eight or ten copies and who said he could get more from his uncle. "I am shocked that this piece of pornographic literature would be put in the hands of school children," Lambright said. "This cheap and sordid attack on Rockefeller is one of the lowest campaign tactics I have ever seen used."

A spokesman for the Democratic Party campaign of Johnson said Thursday night that the party had nothing to do with such literature.

The spokesman said Johnson's headquarters learned of the brochure at 7 p.m. Wednesday, immediately went to work preparing a list of recipients of a telegram and that the telegram was sent to more than 200 county campaign workers by 8 p.m.

The spokesman said the telegram urged that officials destroy all such literature they saw, that the Democratic campaign headquarters had not authorized the literature and knew nothing of it.

Red Expert Is a Former U.S. Citizen

By BERNIE GOULD
NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven years ago, Friday, a 46-year-old Chinese scientist arrived in Peking after 20 years of living and working in the United States, where he gained fame as a rocketry expert.

A week after his arrival, Peking radio announced that Dr. Tsien Hsue-shen had accepted the invitation of the Academy of Sciences of China "to guide its research work."

In the West, that was translated as meaning work to develop an atomic device.

The U.S. government expelled Tsien in 1955, charging he was a Communist. His deportation had been held up for five years on grounds that Tsien possessed so much knowledge potentially valuable to an enemy, it would be "inimical to the best interests of the United States" to let him go.

Two days ago, Red China launched a missile with a nuclear warhead that exploded when it "accurately hit the target," Peking radio announced.

With that announcement, scientists who knew Tsien at the California and Massachusetts Institutes of Technology began wondering if there was any connection between him and the Chinese nuclear missile.

At the Pentagon in Washington, nuclear experts said they had no doubt that Tsien, now 57, was involved in China's atomic program, but to what extent they did not know.

About the only way of keeping track of China's nuclear program is through published works, and they had seen nothing written by Tsien since he left this country, they said.

Keep After Gun Control Congress to

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — The assassination of President John F. Kennedy didn't do it. The massacre on the University of Texas campus didn't do it. Appeals from President Johnson didn't do it.

Sponsors don't profess to know what it will take to pass new federal gun control legislation, but before Congress adjourned they vowed to keep trying in the next session.

A major bone of contention is whether a bill should be limited largely to handguns like revolvers and pistols or should also take in long guns—shotguns and rifles.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., has been the chief sponsor of an administration-backed bill covering both handguns and long guns, but he was unable to get this measure out of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Leading the opposition was Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., who maintained that crime statistics show the handgun is "the principal offender" in the unlawful use of firearms.

On Sept. 22, the committee approved Hruska's bill by a 10-5 vote. But this was misleading, Dodd and some other opponents voted to report it out of committee in hopes the broader bill could be substituted for it on the Senate floor.

Hruska's bill would ban interstate sales of handguns to persons under 21 years of age and regulate mail order sales through an affidavit procedure under which delivery would have to be delayed seven days to give local police an opportunity to check on the purchaser.

It would place no new restrictions on mail order sales of shotguns and rifles on the ground that "their preponderant use (is) in a lawful and beneficial manner"—such as for hunting, target shooting and other recreation.

Dodd's bill would prohibit all mail order sales of handguns and regulate such sales of shotguns and rifles through affidavit controls. It also would curb imports of military surplus firearms.

Oct. 31, Halloween, Is Birthday of the Girl Scout Founder

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

October 31 is Halloween, but it is also a birthday celebrated by thousands of girls and their leaders in the United States. It is the birthday of Juliette Gordon Low, founder of the Girl Scouts.

On her birthday, Monday, October 31, local Girl Scouts and their leaders will contribute to a living memorial to her, the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, at the Roy Anderson Insurance building from 3:45 until 4:45 p.m.

What? Another Fund? Something new? Now, it is one of the oldest voluntary funds of its kind. It perpetuates the belief held by Mrs. Low that Girl Scouts and Girl Guides (the name used in most countries outside the United States) could make a positive contribution to peace through the friendship of young people of the world who have the common bond of scouting whatever their language or nationality.

Through the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from every continent have added a new dimension to their understanding of international friendship. Since the Fund was established, it has made possible a variety of international visits and events for more than 5,000 members of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. and Girl Guides from other countries. In turn, these members have shared their experiences with countless thousands of their friends, colleagues, and families.

But the accomplishments cannot be presented in statistics. They can, perhaps, be better expressed by some of the exchanges.

"We were forced to adapt mentally... My understanding of their culture brought me to the conclusion that we aren't always right... I learned that I needed to be a more alive and contributing person. It opened and broadened my life so that I know I will never be content to exist but will have to live—purposefully and enthusiastically."

"I will always have a very deep appreciation for the beauty and variety of the countryside, the rich heritage of music and folklore, and the distinctly different customs. This trip has not only opened the door to Latin American culture and history but also to a deeper understanding of all people."

"We have all traveled many miles... but the greatest distance traveled by any one of us was the distance from misconception to a deeper understanding of each other and our cultures."

Sleep Study Group Going to S. Pole

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A group of scientists who have been studying sleep is en route today toward the South Pole to investigate why some people snooze excessively in that frigid area while others get the "big eye."

The scientists will observe Navy personnel and other persons at the South Pole station, a scientific base at the exact geographic pole.

Dr. Jay T. Shurley, research professor of psychiatry is head of the University of Oklahoma medical center team.

Sleep disturbances are common to people who have stayed at the South Pole station, a spokesman explained.

He said some suffer the "big eye" or "long eye"—slang for polar insomnia—and others go to the other extreme and sleep excessively.

River Toll Under Study

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A study on whether to lower the toll on the Mississippi River bridge at Helena has been authorized by the state Highway Commission, chairman Wayne Hampton said Wednesday.

The study would determine whether enough traffic would bridge to warrant lowering the toll to a rate not to exceed $1, Hampton said.

Thinks U. S. Could Have Won Quickly

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — In March, Harry Thynge said the United States could have won the Viet Nam war in 10 days, using conventional weapons.

In September, after winning Republican nomination to contest the U.S. Senate seat held by Democrat Thomas McIntyre, Thynge revised the estimate.

North Viet Nam's military machine, he said, had been strengthened. But, he contended, the United States could still win "within a brief period and with a minimum loss of personnel."

Thynge, a retired Air Force brigadier general, hasn't detailed how this could be accomplished, other than to say that "all enemy leadership" emanates from Hanoi, capital of Communist North Viet Nam, and:

"To end hostilities we must eliminate this nerve center and destroy the connecting supply and communications points in North Viet Nam."

Thynge's proposals, said Sen. McIntyre, would be "the quickest way to plunge this nation into World War III."

One of Thynge's main arguments is that "inexperienced, computer-happy, untrained civilians" are running the war, and that the military should be given full authority to determine what must be done to carry out U.S. policy in the field.

Election Reforms May Claim Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long delayed election reforms may claim high priority in the upcoming 90th Congress if President Johnson signs legislation to finance presidential campaigns with income tax check-offs.

Administration leaders are confident Johnson will approve a foreign investment tax bill which carries a rider that would give both major parties about $30 million each to try to elect their candidates for president in 1968.

But the legislation is so devoid of spending safeguards and the Treasury financing involves such tremendous potential impacts on campaigns for offices other than the presidency that there are certain to be urgent demands for overhauling the federal election laws.

Johnson is expected to seize this opportunity to propose drastic tightening of controls over campaign contributions and spending. His proposals, which included a requirement that Senate and House members report all outside income except that from investments, were brushed aside in the Congress which just adjourned.

Johnson's previous recommendation for a $100 income tax deduction for political donations apparently has been washed out by the new bill's provision that each individual could check off $1 of the income taxes he pays to be divided equally by the two major parties.

If everyone did this, about $400 million could be accumulated in the pot over the course of four years to finance the subsequent presidential campaign. However, the maximum of expenditures for both major parties would be $1 for each vote cast in the previous election, less $10 million.

There were about 70 million votes in 1964 and thus the two parties would divide $60 million in 1968. Supporters say this amount would be raised if only one-fifth of the taxpayers made their check mark on their returns.

How this money would be spent remains to be determined by Congress in further legislation. There is no provision to define a legitimate expenditure, no rules laid down to separate presidential from other campaign expenditures by national committees and no provision made to finance these party-governing bodies themselves.

U.S. Says Infiltrators Must Go

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. proposals for withdrawal of "external forces" from South Viet Nam include the removal of 60,000 to 80,000 hard-core Communist infiltrators plus some 50,000 regular North Vietnamese troops, officials said.

The officials gave the estimate when questioned about an apparent divergence between Defense Department statements and positions stated by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg at the United Nations and in the communique signed in Manila by President Johnson and six allied chiefs of state.

In a letter dated Oct. 24 and made public Thursday, Townsends Hoopes, acting assistant secretary of defense, told Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., that the department believes the conditions include "the intent that Viet Cong military units would be deactivated."

State Department officials took the view that this went beyond Goldberg's Sept. 22 call in the U.N. General Assembly for a phased withdrawal "of all external forces, those of North Viet Nam as well as those of the United States and other countries aiding South Viet Nam."

But professional diplomats said the United States is not ready to spell out publicly all its conditions for a withdrawal agreement. If every detail was spelled out, they said, this could be a barrier to progress.

However, officials said the Manila communique and Goldberg's speech would call for the removal of an estimated 47,000 to 50,000 North Vietnamese regulars now fighting in South Viet Nam in 70 battalions.

King Group Says Chicago Broke Promise

By FRANK S. JOSEPH
CHICAGO (AP)—City leaders have broken promises to help make open housing a reality in the Chicago area, says a confidential report being circulated among members of the Chicago Freedom Movement.

The report accuses four civic agencies of failing to live up to commitments they made Aug. 26, when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and top civic and business leaders arrived at a 10-point summit agreement to make Chicago an open city.

The Chicago Freedom Movement is a federation of local civil rights groups headed by King and his Southern Christian Leadership Conference aides. It was formed in Chicago to end alleged discrimination against Negroes in housing, schools and jobs.

The agreement, first of its kind in a major American city, came after a summer of racial activities from riots to protest marches. It was hoped the agreement would mark an end to such activities.

A spokesman for the Chicago Freedom Movement said there was "an intentional slowdown or do-nothingism in fear of the political backlash" as well as legitimate organizational problems, the difficulty of breaking new ground and "administrative incompetence." He said "more marches are always a possibility."

Some excerpts from the confidential report:

"In the past five weeks, the followup committee has tested brokers in areas such as Hyde Park, South Shore, Bogan, Cragin, Belmont Cragin, Austin and Rogers Park. In every case the white family was served and the Negro family discriminated against."

"The Department of Urban Renewal committed itself to search out the best housing available, regardless of location, relocating families (displaced by urban renewal). In September, the DUR relocated 158 families, the great majority of whom were Negro, and it is not known that any were relocated into white areas."

OUR YOUTHFUL MERCHANTS

At the end of the long chain of events and actions which go into the gathering of news and the printing of newspapers is that essential link—the carrier boy. Without his faithful performance of duty, all of the vast efforts which go into the production of a modern newspaper would largely be in vain. Today, the young men who handle the terminal task of placing the paper on your doorstep are honored by the designation of this as National Newspaper-Boy Day.

The job of delivering papers is not a glamorous one. Often, it involves tiring work in the cold or rain or both—and at times when the sun is either rising or setting. But the job provides a type of training that cannot be obtained in the classroom or in most other jobs available to young men in their teens.

For one thing, carriers are independent contractors; that is, they buy papers from the publisher, sell them to the subscriber and pocket the profits. There can hardly be more basic training in business and in the concept of free enterprise. They certainly can't get it sacking groceries. But there is a greater benefit. The young man is his own boss, within a limited sphere. It is difficult to get out of bed before dawn and ride a bicycle several miles. But it is healthy for both the body and the spirit. Lessons of self-discipline are learned that can be translated into better study habits and better work habits.

The list of governmental, professional, military, and business leaders who benefitted from this training is impressive. There are any ways a parent can help a son cover the difficult ground between boyhood and manhood. One of these, certainly, is to encourage him to get a paper route. Columbia (S.C.) State

MESSAGE OF "JUNK MAIL" MIGHT HELP

A massive pileup of mail has occurred in Chicago with the result that deliveries have been delayed for as long as 10 days. This condition continues long enough Congress again might take action to eliminate the low rates provided for circulars, advertising material and other third class mailings that apparently have caused the trouble.

William Hartigan, deputy assistant postmaster general for transportation, who was sent to Washington to see what could be done about the logjam, suggested that the quickest way to take care of the unprecedented situation would be to destroy all third class mail involved and start afresh. That seems an unusual way to handle the matter.

View of the fact that many companies have followed regulations and have placed the circulars and other material in the bins for delivery. It would appear that a much fairer solution would be to go ahead and deliver the mail now on hand, although it might be delayed, and refuse to accept similar mailings until the congestion is cleared up.

In the meantime Congress might begin once more to consider the matter of raising rates for this sort of mail. The question was up some time ago but no solution was forthcoming. By pieces of this so-called "junk mail," much of it addressed simply to "Occupant" of this or that address, still litters up the average homeowner's mail box. It still seems the quickest way to remedy the condition and prevent future pileups in deliveries would be for Congress to make users of this vice pay more for it. That would automatically solve the problem, we believe.—Lexington (Ky.)

Columbia City Uttered by Fire

GOTA, Columbia (AP)—GOTA, a city of 40,000 in north-central Columbia, has been destroyed by fire, the government announced.

The fire started Wednesday night when a gasoline tank exploded. Flames spread to hundreds of wooden houses.
